At IOHI, we provide customized support to start-ups for global deployments, regulatory, fundraise, IP and Policy support.

IOHI launched its first cohort in 2023 with four companies. These innovative technologies were intentionally selected to change the OH approach from being human-centric to more planet-centric, and supports solutions for crop resilience, water, sanitation and environment management.

IKP Knowledge Park (IKP), a Science Park and Incubator headquartered at Hyderabad, India launched its 'International One Health Incubator (IOHI)' in 2021 to identify technology solutions for global One Health challenges and their global deployment.

IKP's IOHI is a living lab for practicing and deploying OH innovations, with an initial focus on sustainable agri-food systems and environment. Data from these start-ups can potentially be used to draw science-driven policy decisions that can be implemented globally. We look forward to collaborations with partners to take this initiative global and build it into an open innovation platform, "OneHealth beyond borders".
